and denying in part the Motion [Docket No. 233] (the “Capital One Motion”) of Capital One Equipment Finance Corp. (“Capital One”) and the Motion [Docket No. 243] (the “SNB Motion” and, together with the Capital One Motion, the “Motions”)² of Sterling National Bank (“SNB” and, together with Capital One, the “Movants”) authorizing the Movants to intervene in the above-captioned chapter 11 cases (the “Chapter 11 Cases”). In support of this Objection, the Debtors respectfully represent as follows:

OBJECTION

The Debtors are confused by the Movants’ settlement of the Proposed Order without any discussion on Debtors’ requested changes. In the morning on Tuesday, May 10, 2016, the Movants sent the Proposed Order to Debtors’ counsel (and others) requesting comments to the Proposed Order. The Proposed Order contains the following operative decretal paragraph with respect to each Movant:

ORDERED that the [Movant’s] Intervention Motion is hereby granted to the extent that any property in which [Movant] claims a security interest or lien is to be, or is proposed to be, transferred, used or otherwise directly affected by any action, or any proposed action, in these cases, [Movant] may raise and be heard upon any issue in connection therewith; and it is further

That evening, Debtors’ counsel returned the Proposed Order with the Debtors’ comments modifying the above decretal paragraph to the following, which tracked nearly verbatim the Court’s language at the hearing (provided below):

ORDERED that the [Movant’s] Intervention Motion is hereby granted to the extent that [Movant] is permitted to file objections to confirmation of the plan proposed by the Debtors to the extent it deems it necessary in order to preserve any property interest it has, or that it claims it has, in property affected by the plan; and it is further

Three days later, without any dialogue, Movants’ counsel sent an email concluding that the parties were pretty far apart and that it was best to just submit competing proposed orders to the Court.

² Terms capitalized but not defined herein have the meanings assigned to them in the respective Motions unless otherwise provided.

In the Debtors' view, the Proposed Order goes beyond what the Court ruled. At the May 4, 2016 hearing on the Motions, the Court stated:

	Page 41
1	issues at that time or if they just file a plan objection and
2	we --
3	THE COURT: Well, there's a pending motion. It has
4	to be disposed of in some fashion or carried. But my proposal
5	-- my thought would be to deny the motion to intervene or to
6	grant it -- to grant it in part and deny it in part so that
7	they -- grant it to the extent that they are permitted to file
8	objections to plan confirmation as they see -- deem to be
9	necessary in order to preserve any property interest they have
10	in, they claim, in property that's going to be dealt with under
11	the plan. That would be --

Although the Debtors would have certainly welcomed discussion on the issue to understand the Movants' concerns and hopefully avoid burdening the Court with competing orders, the Movants elected not to engage in discussions. Accordingly, the Debtors hereby submit and request entry of the annexed proposed order (the "Debtors Proposed Order"), a copy of which is annexed hereto as Exhibit A, and which accurately reflects the Court's ruling (a black-lined comparison of the Proposed Order and Debtors Proposed Order is annexed hereto as Exhibit B).

CONCLUSION

For all of the foregoing reasons, the Debtors respectfully request that the Debtors Proposed Order be entered instead of the Proposed Order.
